9. Study of Liaison with
Foreign Intelligence
Officers in Washington

The Acting Chairman reported that an inventory had been made of the extent to which foreign intelligence officers conducted liaison with CIA Headquarters personnel. He noted that it was an impressive list.

General Carter said that he was bringing this matter to the Board's attention since, if other members did not have such a list, they might like to have a similar inventory made within their respective agencies.

General Carter said that, as a result of the inventory within CIA, he had directed a study of the security aspects involved in this matter.
